"The Predictive Index is a valuable tool that I use for our staff, players and program. It has allowed me to better understand individuals, their actions and how to better relate to them one-on-one. It has been especially beneficial to me in post-season competition during adverse and stressful situations. We have incorporated the Predictive Index with our team in an effective way by helping them to better understand each other's actions and reactions. I believe in it! It has made a difference for us. Bill Rodgers is a good teacher and understands how the Predictive Index can relate, not only to the performance of an athlete, but to a work force. On many occasions, he has shared information that was very valuable to me and my staff. If you want a program on the cutting edge, this is one that will take you there."
